

AFFIDAVIT IN SUPPORT OF APPLICATION FOR SEARCH WARRANT

I. INTRODUCTION AND AGENT BACKGROUND

Affiant, Kevin W. Damuth, a Special Agent (SA) with the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), being duly sworn, hereby depose and state as follows:

Affiant has been employed as a Special Agent with the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) since January 17, 1999 and currently serves in Helena, Montana. As a Special Agent, Affiant has participated in the investigation of a number of Federal offenses, including those identified in Title 18, U.S.C. §§ 2251, 2252 and 2252A, et seq., dealing with offenses related to child pornography. Since December 2004, Affiant has been involved in numerous investigations involving the sexual exploitation of children. Affiant has received specialized training in that area and has also collaborated with other agents/experts who are highly trained in the field of child pornography investigations and investigative techniques. As part of his duties, Affiant investigates criminal violations relating to the exploitation of children including violations pertaining to the advertisement and distribution of child pornography in violation of the United States Code. Affiant has gained experience through training and everyday work relating to these types of investigations. Specifically, Affiant is required to distinguish between images that depict child pornography and child erotica (non-child pornography). As the case agent in FBI investigations, Affiant has applied for federal search warrants and participated in the execution of those warrants.

As a federal agent, Affiant is authorized to investigate violations of the laws of the United States and to execute warrants issued under the authority of the United States.

The statements in this affidavit are based on Affiant's personal observations, training and experience, investigation of this matter, and information obtained from other agents and witnesses. Because this affidavit is being submitted for the limited purpose of securing a search warrant, Affiant has not included each and every fact known to him concerning this investigation. Affiant has set forth the facts that he believes are necessary to establish probable cause to believe that evidence, fruits, and instrumentalities of violations of Title 18, U.S.C. § 2251(d), which makes it a crime to advertise child pornography; 18 U.S.C. § 2252A(a)(2), which makes it a crime to receive and/or distribute child pornography; 18 U.S.C. § 2252A(a)(5)(B), which makes it a crime to possess or knowingly access with intent to view child pornography; and/or 18 U.S.C. § 2252A(g) which makes it a crime to engage in a child exploitation enterprise involving one or more of the above statutes are present in the information associated with the Google, Yahoo and Lycos accounts discussed below.

Affiant makes this affidavit in support of applications for search warrants for content and records associated with the Google e-mail accounts monkmalchus@gmail.com and jennluv2@googlemail.com, which are stored at premises owned, maintained, controlled, or operated by Google, Inc., an Internet company located at 1600 Amphitheatre Parkway, Mountain View, California 94043, the Yahoo! email accounts marlowesdames@yahoo.com, eiknarfy@yahoo.com, bn42j@yahoo.com, kirkt02@yahoo.com and sigurdhh@yahoo.com, which are stored at premises owned, maintained, controlled, or operated by Yahoo! Inc., 701 First Avenue, Sunnyvale, California 94089, and the email account fufuberry000@lycos.com which is stored at premises owned, maintained, controlled or operated by Lycos, Inc., 52 2nd Avenue, Waltham, Massachusetts 02451 . The information and accounts to be searched are described in the following paragraphs and in separate Attachments A and B (separate attachment prepared for each account). This affidavit is made in support of an application for a search warrant under 18 U.S.C. §§ 2703(a), 2703(b)(1)(A) and 2703(c)(1)(A) to require Google, Inc. and/or Yahoo!, and/or Lycos, Inc. to disclose to the government records and other information in its possession pertaining to the subscriber or customer associated with the accounts referenced in this affidavit and further in Attachment A, including the contents of the communications.

Affiant has probable cause to believe that evidence of violations of 18 U.S.C. § 2251(d), 18 U.S.C. § 2252A(a)(2), 18 U.S.C. § 2252A(a)(5)(B), and/or 18 U.S.C. § 2252A(g) are present, involving the use of a computer in or affecting interstate commerce to advertise, distribute, possess, access with intent to view child pornography, and/or engage in a child exploitation enterprise involving one or more of the above statutes is located in and within the aforementioned accounts described herein. Additionally, Affiant has probable cause to believe that the accounts that are the subject of the instant application will have stored information and communications that are relevant to this investigation, to include evidence of the identity of the person maintaining and controlling the above email accounts used to advertise, distribute, or access with intent to view child pornography, and/or engage in a child exploitation enterprise involving one or more of the above statutes. As outlined below, and based on Affiant's training and experience, there is probable cause to believe that evidence, fruits and/or instrumentalities of the aforementioned crimes are located in these accounts.

IV. CHILD PORNOGRAPHY, COMPUTERS AND THE ONLINE EXPLOITATION OF CHILDREN

Based upon Affiant's knowledge, training, and experience in child exploitation and child pornography investigations, and the experience and training of other law enforcement officers with whom Affiant has had discussions, Affiant is aware of the following:

- a. Individuals involved in the sexual exploitation of children often possess and maintain for many years records, documents and material which depict child pornography. They may receive sexual gratification from viewing children engaged in sexual activity or in sexually suggestive poses.

- b. Computers and computer technology have revolutionized the way in which child pornography is produced, distributed, stored and communicated as a commodity and a further tool of online child exploitation.
- c. Child pornography is not readily available in retail establishments in the United States because it is illegal. Accordingly, individuals who wish to obtain child pornography often do so by ordering it from abroad or by discreet contact with other individuals who share their interests and have it available. The use of computers to traffic in, trade or collect child pornography has become one of the preferred methods of obtaining these materials. An individual familiar with a computer can use it in some private location to interact with another individual or a business offering such material. The use of the computer offers individuals interested in obtaining child pornography a sense of anonymity, privacy and secrecy not available elsewhere, as well as the added benefit of speedy transmissions and communications.
- d. One of the most efficacious ways to expand a collection of child pornography is to offer another collector, via a trade over the Internet through email or online boards, images the trading partner does not already possess. Accordingly, it may be necessary to keep a great number of images in storage so as to have adequate material to allow participation in this informal barter system. Thus, collectors involved in sending or receiving child pornography often retain such images for long periods of time. This tendency is enhanced by the increased sense of security that a computer and peripherals such as on-line storage provide. In addition to the emotional value the images have to the collector, child pornography images are intrinsically valuable to trade and/or sell and are therefore rarely destroyed or deleted by a collector. Individuals may also visit free or pay web sites, and repeatedly view child pornography images and movies that need not be saved or downloaded to their computer. Individuals who procure child pornography often keep such material in their residence or other secure locations accessible by a click on a computer mouse (such as an online bulletin board or email account) to ensure convenient and ready access.

V. TECHNICAL INFORMATION REGARDING EMAIL PROVIDERS

Based on Affiant's training, research and experience, he has learned that companies such as Google, Yahoo, and Lycos provide a variety of services, including electronic mail ("e-mail") access to the general public. Such providers allow subscribers to obtain e-mail accounts with various domain names such as "gmail.com" or "googlemail.com" if using Google, "yahoo.com" if using Yahoo, and "lycos.com" if using Lycos. Subscribers obtain an account by registering with the respective email provider. During the registration process, an email provider may ask the subscriber to provide basic personal information.

Generally, an e-mail that is sent to an email subscriber is stored in the subscriber's "inbox" on the email provider's servers until the subscriber deletes the e-mail. If the subscriber does not delete the message, the message can remain on the servers indefinitely. The user can move and store messages in personal folders such as a "sent folder." In recent years, email providers have provided their users with larger storage capabilities associated with the user's e-mail account. Based on conversations with other law enforcement officers with experience in executing and reviewing search warrants of e-mail accounts, Affiant has learned that search warrants for e-mail accounts and computer systems have revealed stored e-mails sent and/or received many years prior to the date of the search.

When the subscriber sends an e-mail, it is initiated at the user's computer, transferred via the Internet to the email provider's servers, and then transmitted to its end destination. Email providers often save a copy of the e-mail sent. Unless the sender of the e-mail specifically deletes the e-mail from the email provider's server, the e-mail can remain on the system indefinitely.

A sent or received e-mail typically includes the content of the message, source and destination addresses, the date and time at which the e-mail was sent, and the size and length of the e-mail. If an e-mail user writes a draft message but does not send it, that message may also be saved by the email provider but may not include all of these categories of data.

Typically, subscribers can also store files, including e-mails, address books, contact or buddy lists, calendar data, pictures, and other files on servers maintained and/or owned by the email providers. Subscribers might not store on their home computers copies of the e-mails stored in the email provider account. This is sometimes true when they access their accounts through the web, or if they do not wish to maintain particular e-mails or files in their residence. In essence, a subscriber's e-mail box has become a common online data storage location for many users. This is particularly true when they access their account through the web, or if they do not wish to maintain particular e-mails or files in their residence. In Affiant's training and experience, users who collect child pornography often receive and distribute child pornography through their email accounts.

In general, e-mail providers ask each of their subscribers to provide certain personal identifying information when registering for an e-mail account. This information could include the subscriber's full name, physical address, telephone numbers and other identifiers, such as alternative e-mail addresses, and, for paying subscribers, means and source of payment (including any credit or bank account number).

E-mail providers typically retain certain transaction information about the creation and use of each account on their systems. This information can include the date on which the account was created, the length of service, records of log-in (i.e., session) times and durations, the types of service utilized, the status of the account (including whether the account is inactive or closed), the methods used to connect to the account (such as logging into the account via the email providers website), and other log files that reflect usage of the account. In addition, e-mail providers often have records of the IP address used to register the account and the IP addresses associated with particular logins to the account. Because every device that connects to the Internet must use an IP address, IP address information can help to identify which computers or other devices were used to access the e-mail account.

In some cases, e-mail account users will communicate directly with an e-mail service provider about issues relating to the account, such as technical problems, billing inquiries, or complaints from other users. E-mail providers typically retain records about such communications, including records of contacts between the user and the providers support services, as well as records of any actions taken by the provider or user as a result of the communications.

In Affiant's training and experience, e-mail users often use e-mail accounts for everyday transactions because it is fast, low cost, and simple to use. People use e-mail to communicate with friends and family, manage accounts, pay bills, and conduct other online business. E-mail users often keep records of these transactions in their e-mail accounts, to include identifying information such as name and address.

In Affiant's training and experience, evidence of who was using an e-mail account is often found in address books, contact or buddy lists, e-mail in the account, and attachments to e-mails, including pictures and files.

VI. DETAILS OF THE INVESTIGATION

Based on Affiant's knowledge and experience and on information received from other individuals and other law enforcement officers as set forth below, he has learned the following:

During March 2012, law enforcement executed a search warrant at the residence of Paul Wencewicz in Polson, Montana. During the search, law enforcement spoke with Wencewicz. In summary, Wencewicz advised he was the creator of an online bulletin board known as Kingdom of Future Dreams (KOFD). As the creator, Wencewicz had full administrative rights. Wencewicz advised he created KOFD to allow members to share in their common interests which included exchanging files containing both child pornography and non-child pornography images (child erotica or child modeling images). Wencewicz acknowledged he understood child pornography to depict a child engaged in sexually explicit conduct which included the lascivious display of their genitalia. Wencewicz advised there were around 35 to 45 registered members of KOFD and approximately 80 percent of those members utilized the site to share child pornography. KOFD was very active shortly after its creation but had died down significantly.

Wencewicz advised that each KOFD member was associated with a particular group which included moderators and administrators. In essence, each group was permitted to access certain areas or rooms of the bulletin board. The upper rooms on the bulletin board typically contained the child pornography. Members who sought child pornography on KOFD obtained it via images posted directly in one of the rooms or by accessing a hyperlink which would direct the member to a file host. The child pornography was typically identified by age preferences such as 16 and over, 12 to 15, and 11 and under. Upon accessing the file host, the member could select and download a particular series of images some of which would contain child pornography.

During the interview, Wencewicz provided law enforcement consent to take over several of his online accounts which included the bulletin board ("BB") KOFD.

Kingdom of Future Dreams (kofd.ucoz.com)

On or about March 14, 2012, an FBI employee acting in an undercover capacity accessed the web based bulletin board known as "Kingdom of Future Dreams" (kofd.ucoz.com) through the use of existing member account "meangl". Prior to use of the "meangl" log-in information, none of the bulletin board was observable to the general public. After log-in, the FBI agent was able to access a list of six (6) forums and 21 sub-forums based on a membership level identified as "Castle Dweller". At the bottom of the page, an information line titled "Forum Statistics" showed that the bulletin board itself consisted of 44 active members, 3,956 threads, and 24,031 replies/posts. A review of the current members of the bulletin board as visible by the "meangl" account showed that account registrations started on November 6, 2009, with the latest registration occurring on January 8, 2012. Additional information viewable with the "meangl" account included date of last login, member screen names/nick names, avatars, member group (membership level), and number of posts/messages. A review of membership levels showed three (3) current "Administrators" (Dreamer, JennLuv, Legion), two (2) "Moderators" (father48, GrouchoMarxist), four (4) "Legionaires" (BellaFan, Cougar, diopter22, jimdino), eight (8) suspended (Beard, Diagonal, erto, Grizzly, JJ, kickfan, LiasMan, mopar546), and the remainder being either "Castle Resident" or "Castle Dweller" status.

A sub-forum titled "The Rules" contained information, including but not limited to, membership levels/groups and advancement (posted by member "Dreamer"); rules and regulations which defined acceptable behavior while posting to board, allowable material, and posting rules (posted by member "JennLuv").

Subsequent to the above referenced interview of Wencewicz, identified as kofd.ucoz.com member and administrator "Dreamer," an FBI employee acting in an undercover capacity again accessed the web based bulletin board "Kingdom of Future Dreams" (kofd.ucoz.com) through the use of Wencewicz' existing member account "Dreamer." After log-in, the FBI agent was able to access a list of eight (8) forums and 28 sub-forums based on a membership level identified as "Administrator". At the bottom of the page, an information line titled "Forum Statistics" showed that the bulletin board itself consisted of 44 active members, 3,956 threads, and 24,031 replies/posts. A review of the current members of the bulletin board revealed the e-mail addresses associated with each account in addition to the same information previously seen while using the "meangl" account. A review of individual member profiles with the "Dreamer" account also showed the e-mail address and registration IP address for each account.

A copy of the files containing the kofd.ucoz.com bulletin board was obtained and reviewed. Information contained in these files included the complete profile information of individual members (including members' email addresses registered with the board), bulletin board structure, complete information related to each post to include IP address, date/time/time zone, files embedded within the bulletin board, to include various avatars, text icons, signature images, and images embedded into posts. Additionally, links to external third party data hosting sites were located within the individual posts and downloaded where possible in order to review the images discussed in the individual threads.

Based on Affiant's training, experience, and information obtained from other law enforcement agents, it is known that online accounts for bulletin boards typically have a default email address associated with it wherein the default email account receives notifications of private messages on the bulletin board and/or email communications between bulletin board members. The email accounts listed in the members' profile pages and described herein appear to be the default email accounts associated with the above noted KOFD BB Member accounts.

Affiant is aware of a search warrant executed on KOFD Member 1's (Paul Wenciewicz') registered email account of savascaper@gmail.com. This account contained notifications of private messages contained on the KOFD BB for Wenciewicz to view. The savascaper@gmail.com account also contained child pornography received from and sent to other email accounts as well as communications between savascaper@gmail.com and other email accounts registered to KOFD members including but not limited to monkmalchus@gmail.com (Member 9), fufuberry000@lycos.com (Member 22) and jennluv2@googlemail.com (Member 2).

The following summarizes the content and postings made on KOFD by eight bulletin board members and the corresponding email addresses for each member:

On 03/08/2013, your Affiant spoke with a representative from Anonymizer, Inc. which is a company that hosts the above email account of 1cerulean34@nyms.net. Your Affiant learned that this email account is an alias address that operates like a pointer in that emails sent to this account are forwarded to another designated email account(s) which ultimately stores the email content. Your Affiant learned that, on March 26, 2012, the FBI had served Anonymizer, Inc. with an administrative subpoena for subscriber records relative to 1cerulean34@nyms.net. Anonymizer, Inc. provided their response to the above subpoena informing law enforcement that the "email address on account" is sigurdhh@yahoo.com. On 03/10/2013, your Affiant spoke to the same Anonymizer, Inc. representative at which time she advised that this Yahoo account is the email account designated to receive emails that have been forwarded from the 1cerulean34@nyms.net account.
